GIVING MONEY

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

CapEd
CREDIT UNION

Charity is the act of giving help to those in need of it

Charity involves giving money, goods or time and effort to those who need it

Money

Goods

Time & Effort

Charity is done without expecting something in return

Giving money or food to people in need is an example of charity

Charitable organizations collect money and goods and then give them to those in need

Most charities are concerned with providing basic needs

Food

Water

Clothing

Healthcare

Shelter

The most common form of charity is donating money

The money is then used to buy these basic needs

Learn to SPEND, SAVE & GIVE

Giving away a small portion of your savings can make a big difference to a cause that you care about

FOR MOST PEOPLE...

SPENDING
comes naturally

SAVING up for something special is harder

Setting money
aside for GIVING
is really hard

The concept of three money jars can help

Each jar represents an activity:
spending, saving and giving

When you receive your allowance or a gift of money, divide the money up and put it in each of the three jars

Dividing your money into thirds is a good way to get started, but the amount of money you put into each jar is up to you

Use clear jars so you can see your money build up in each jar over time

SPENDING JAR:

- Money placed in this jar can be used to buy anything you like, including small items and fun treats just for you
- This is known as discretionary spending

SAVING JAR:

- Money placed in this jar is used to save up for more expensive items that you really want
- Separating your money when you first receive it helps you set money aside for later

GIVING JAR:

- Money placed in this jar is used to give to a charity or to help someone in need
- This will teach you about social responsibility and stewardship by allowing you the opportunity to give back to a cause that you care about

Another way
TO GIVE

Volunteering your time and energy
is also an excellent charitable action

ASK YOURSELF:

Can you set aside a little bit of your savings to donate to charity?

What are some ways you can help out at your school or in your community?
